Jerome, Commentarium in Ezechielem

f. 1 //Et hi egressus ciuitatis ... ad consummationem seculi. AMEN//

Jerome, Commentarium in Ezechielum, 14.1924-96 (Ezek. 48.30-35); F. Glorie, ed., CCSL 75 (1964), 741-3. The lower portion of verso is blank.

Parchment. 1 folio. 315 x 228 mm (written space 260 x 170 mm). 1 column. 37 lines. Dry-point ruling on the hair side. Double vertical and horizontal bounding lines. Prickings in outer margin.

Written in late Caroline minuscule. 1-line initials are in brown rustic capitals, not set apart from the text. Two words in Greek majuscules, with a line drawn above them (see plate of recto in Robert G. Babcock and Mark L. Sosower, Learning from the Greeks: An Exhibition Commemorating the Five-Hundredth Anniversary of the Founding of the Aldine Press [New Haven, 1994], 13 and 15, item 10). Punctuation consists of the punctus and the punctus elevatus. Double quotation marks are in the outer margin of the recto. On the verso, the left and right margins of the written space tapers as the text ends.

The fragment was used as a pastedown in the binding of a volume measuring ca. 315 x 230 mm. It was sold by E. von Scherling (Leiden), Rotulus, vol. 4 (winter, 1937), p. 15, item 1855.
