Italy, s. XI/XII

Passio S. Felicitatis (from a Passionary?)

f. 1r [Inc: Temporibus Antonini imperatoris ...] //misera si tibi ... impietas est. et//

Passio S. Felicitatis (10 July); Acta SS Iul. III.12; BHL 2853. Only the upper portion of the inner column remains.

f. 1v //Nos si transitorium ... et in sempi//[ternum]

Passio S. Felicitatis; Acta SS Iul. III.12-13. Only the upper portion of the inner column remains.

Parchment. 1 folio. 188 x 130 mm (width of written space of one column 80 mm; original written space ca. 350 x 175 mm). 1 of 2 columns remaining. 18 of ca. 36 lines remaining. Dry-point ruling on the hair side. Double vertical and horizontal bounding lines.

Written in an inelegant Caroline minuscule. 1-line initials are brown rustic capitals and are not set apart from the text. Punctuation consists of the punctus, punctus elevatus and the punctus versus.

Modern hands have written "74," "Saec. XI" and "Saec. XII" in pencil on the recto. Gift of the Yale University Library Associates; purchased from Kraus in 1948.
