Artt. 1-2: the two sections of the poem by Jacques de Longuyon (s. XIII/XIV), Voeux du paon, composed 1312-1313. R.L.G. Ritchie, ed., The Buik of Alexander (...) by John Barbour. Scottish Text Society (Edinburg, London, 1921-1929, vv. 2-4. On the author and his work, see A. Thomas in Histoire littéraire de la France, v. 36 (Paris, 1927), pp. 1-35.

Parchment, ff. 138, 240 x 160 mm. f. 8 is bound between ff. 1 and 2?? Parchment repairs.

I<sup>2</sup> (ff. 1-2), II<sup>14</sup> (ff. 3-16), III<sup>6</sup> (ff. 17-22), IV<sup>8</sup> (ff. 23-30), V<sup>10</sup> (ff. 31-40), VI<sup>14</sup> (ff. 41-54), VII-XVI<sup>8</sup> (ff. 55-134), XVII<sup>4</sup> (ff. 135-138). Horizontal catchwords at right, close to the lower edge; a catchword is missing on f. 86v (quire X). In some quires signatures of an early type are visible in the lower outer corner of the first recto pages: in quire VI "IG IIG IIIG GV" on ff. 48-51; in quire XII (ff. 95-102) "K", in quire XIII (ff. 103-110) "L", in quire XVI (ff. 127-134) "O".

Ruled with lead for one column of 30 lines below top line. Ruling type 23 or 26, but there are three vertical lines at left.

Copied by a single hand writing Northern Gothic Textualis Libraria.

2-line half inset flourished initials alternately in red and blue, respectively with purple and red penwork extending into the margin. At the opening of art. 2 a 6-line littera duplex with penwork in ... At the opening of art. 1 a half-page miniature in three compartments in a decorative frame: at left a tent in which two knights in armour are seated; in the center a tent with two ladies standing; at right Alexander and Cassamus. Under the miniature 14 lines of text, opening with a 5-line foliate initial ending in a bar in the left margin, continued with a foliate bar border in the lower and the right margins; the horizontal section ends at left in the head, forelegs and wings of a monster; at right a bird is sitting.

On f. 137r, after the double explicit, there is the following contemporary note in Gothica Cursiva about the number of initials: “[C]e su<n>t les grans letres quy sont en ce livre * et i an a II<sup>e</sup> et demi et XXXV” (“XXXV” is repeated in clearer handwriting in the margin, followed by “II”).

French binding s. XVIII<sup>2</sup> by Pierre-Joseph Bisiaux: dark olive green morocco over pasteboard, the covers richly decorated with gold-tooled frames, and in the center a gold-tooled medallion containing the arms of Edward Vernon Utterson. Gold-tooled spine in six compartments, the second one containing the title “LE ROMAN / DES VEUX / DU PAON”, the others a fountain. Pink silk lining. Printed label with inscription “Relié par Bisiaux, Rue du Foin St. Jacques, no. 32”. On this binder, see E. Thoinan, *Les relieurs français (1500-1800).
